MCYR Hosts Local Republican Campaign Rally

Woodstock, IL...In front of a packed house, the McHenry County Young Republicans hosted a campaign rally for local Republican candidates with raring success. Following a speech given by keynote speaker State Representative Mike Tryon (R-Crystal Lake), the crowd chanted “vote Republican” while listening to local candidates. Candidates present included Mayor of Woodstock Brian Sager, District 300 School Board Candidate Rob Lee and Republican candidates from Algonquin, Dorr and Nunda Townships.

“This could be one of the most exciting events this county has seen,” said Bryan Javor, chairman of the McHenry County Young Republicans. “It was so great to see all these young people so excited for their local Republican candidates, especially in the current political climate.”

The night started with a riveting speech by Representative Tryon to a crowd that grew more and more excited as each candidate spoke. The audience attended to show support for their local candidates; many attendees signed up to assist with last minute campaign activities during the final push toward victory.

“This event reflects the perseverance of the Republican Party,” said Javor. “The presence of so many excited Republicans demonstrates our grassroots strength.”

The rally motivated a number of attendees to volunteer to walk door-to-door to get out the vote for their local Republican candidates. The candidates present at the rally were very excited with the energetic turnout and are confident in their ability to win major victories in Tuesday’s elections. Javor said the most important thing is to make sure we get our support out and vote.

“Getting excited is only the first step,” said Javor. “Now that everyone is motivated and ready, we need to rally our supporters and win some big victories on Tuesday. I am very confident we can do that.”
